TRIBUTE TO DANNIE HEINEMAN

November 23 is the 100th anniversary of the birth of one of the Library's great benefactors, Dannie N. Heineman, a prominent American industrialist whose international business and scientific career was primarily centered in Europe. He was born in Charlotte, North Carolina, in 1872, and died in New York City on January 31, 1962. Forced out of Europe by the Nazi onslaught, he returned to the United States at the outbreak of the second World War. Here he established the Heineman Foundation for Research, Educational, Charitable, and Scientific Purposes, Inc., which, before and after Mr. Heineman's death, has enabled the Music Division to acquire a notable collection of rarities otherwise far beyond its reach.

Mr. Heineman was an ardent music lover and a bibliophile of impeccable taste. He appreciated evidence of creative effort, erudition, and cultural enrichment. Knowing his broad interest in art and literature, the Music Division has utilized the assistance of the Heineman Foundation over the years to obtain, among many items, rare books, holograph music, autograph letters, early music imprints, and scarce librettos. The Heineman Foundation Collection in the Library of Congress is an enviable assemblage rich in research value and frequently spectacular in visual appeal.

At the centennial of his birth the Library of Congress is happy to honor him and to express again its gratitude to the foundation that bears his name.

Poetry Program Scheduled for Monday

Poets Samuel Allen and Ned O'Gorman will read from and discuss their work on Monday, November 20, at 7:30 p.m. in the Coolidge Auditorium. Josephine Jacobsen, the Library's Consultant in Poetry, will moderate the discussion. No tickets are required.

NEW YORK WOODWIND QUINTET TO PRESENT CONCERT NOV. 24

On Friday evening, November 24, the Gertrude Clarke Whittall Foundation in the Library of Congress will sponsor a concert of chamber music by the New York Woodwind Quintet. The members of this ensemble are Thomas Nyfenger, flute; Ronald Roseman, oboe; David Glazer, clarinet; Arthur Weisberg, bassoon; and Ralph Froelich, French horn. Their program will include Variations on Mozart's "La ci darem la mano" (from Don Giovanni) by Ludwig van Beethoven; Quartet in C major for woodwinds by Arthur Berger; Quintet in E minor, Op. 67, No. 2 by Franz Danzi; and Quintet by Claude Paul Taffanel. This program will feature the world premiere of Trios and Fantasy for Woodwind Quintet by Ezra Laderman.

BRITISH POET WILL LECTURE AT LIBRARY ON NOV. 27

Ian Hamilton, British poet, critic, and editor, will present a lecture on recent poetry in Great Britain on Monday, November 27, at 7:30 p.m. in the Coolidge Auditorium. The lecture will be given under the auspices of the Gertrude Clarke Whittall Poetry and Literature Fund. No tickets are required.

Born in King's Lynn, Norfolk, England, in 1938, Mr. Hamilton attended Darlington Grammar School and received his B.A. degree from Keble College, Oxford. He is Poetry and Fiction Editor of The Times Literary Supplement, Editor of The Review, and has been a regular poetry critic of The Observer and London Magazine. He currently holds the Poetry Lectureship at the University of Hull and has taught at both Keble College and New College, Oxford. In 1963 he received the E.C. Gregory Award.

Mr. Hamilton's poems are collected in a pamphlet entitled Pretending Not to Sleep (1964) and in his first book of poetry, The Visit (1970). A collection of his essays and reviews will appear in a volume entitled A Poetry Chronicle later this year. Mr. Hamilton's poetry has also been published in many periodicals, including New Statesman, The Observer, London Magazine, and Listener, and in such anthologies as New Poetry (1962), and Poetry: Introduction 1 (1969).

In addition to writing and reviewing poetry, Mr. Hamilton has edited three books: The Poetry of War, 1939-45 (1965), Alun Lewis: Selected Poetry and Prose (1966), and The Modern Poet: Essays From "The Review" (1968).

The lecture will be broadcast in Washington, D.C. by WGMS-AM-FM at a later date.

DRAFT STANDARDS FOR MICROFILMING LIBRARY CARD CATALOGS AVAILABLE

The American Library Association Subcommittee on Standards for Microfilming Card Catalogs has prepared a draft specification for microfilming library card catalogs. Before making a final recommendation to the ALA RLMS Standards Committee, the members of the Subcommittee wish to make available a copy of the text to those interested in studying the document and making comments.

A limited number of copies are available for this purpose and may be secured by writing directly to Chief, Photoduplication Service, Library of Congress, Washington, D.C. 20540, Attention: Department S.

FILMSTRIP ON LC CLASSIFICATION WINS AWARD AT FILM FESTIVAL

The filmstrip, Library of Congress Classification, won a Gold Award at the International Film and TV Festival held in New York City on October 27. The filmstrip, which consists of 54 color frames, describes the early history of the Library of Congress and explains its classification system. An accompanying text is recorded on a phonodisc as well as on phonotape on reel or in cassette. The filmstrip was produced by the Library Filmstrip Center, 3033 Aloma, Wichita, Kans., earlier this year [see the February 3 issue of the Information Bulletin].

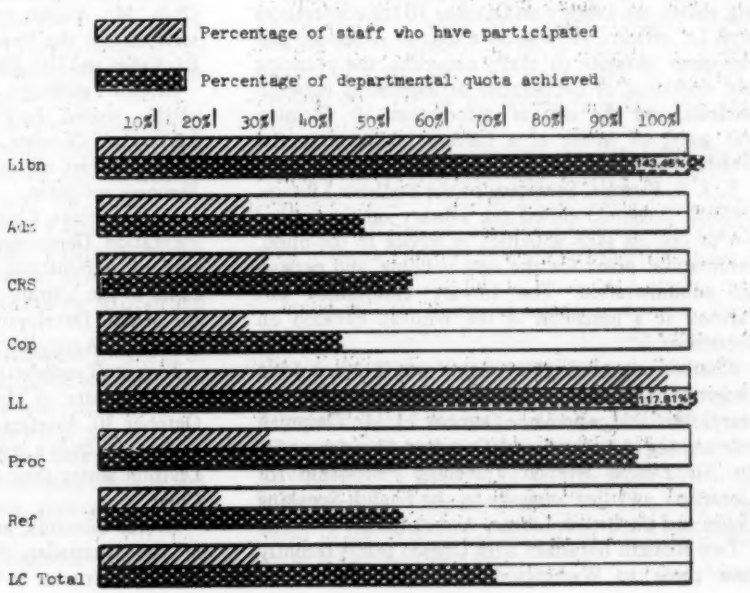
FEDERAL CAMPAIGN HITS 67 PERCENT

A progress report of the 1973 Combined Federal Campaign at the Library has indicated that, as of November 8, 28 percent of the staff pledged 67 percent of the $75,887 goal.

Staff members who have not yet contributed, or wish to increase their contribution, are urged to contact their keyworker as soon as possible. The campaign will end November 20.

The percentage of departmental quotas reached and the percentage of staff who have participated are represented in the accompanying graph.



VISITORS TO LC

British Librarians

Forty-nine British librarians on a study tour of the United States came to the Library on October 12. Their visit began with an orientation tour of the Main Building and LC's reference services conducted by Judith Farley, Bruce Miller, Louis Mortimer, Joseph Schwarz, Bill Sittig, and Brian Willson. They also viewed the film "The Library of Congress", for which Maurel Allen was projectionist. In the afternoon, they toured the Processing Department and were given a talk about the MARC Project and the Card Division. Mrs. Susan Aramayo, Mrs. Grace Hall, Bob Hiatt, Lenore Maruyama, Mrs. Constance Stevens, and Terry Peet were participating staff members.

A sandwich luncheon was served in the Whittall Pavilion for the visitors and members of the LC staff who had helped with the arrangements. Alan White of Edinburgh, Scotland, who is President of the Association of Assistant Librarians which set up the study tour, expressed his thanks and introduced Sheila Wilson of London who was Tour Leader, and other Association officers. John G. Lorenz, Deputy Librarian of Congress, gave an official greeting to the visitors.

Special Foreign Visitors

The National Librarian of Australia, Allan P. Fleming, visited the Library on October 10 for conferences with LC officers. He was on a tour of American and European libraries to study networks, the planning and operation of cooperative arrangements between libraries, and the uses of automation. Mr. Fleming was guest of honor at a Library luncheon in the Whittall Pavilion.

E. J. S. Parsons, Secretary of the Bodleian Library, Oxford, England, visited the Library on September 5-6 to discuss such activities as service to the blind, automation, plans for the new building, and personnel administration. The Library entertained Mr. Parsons at a luncheon in the Whittall Pavilion on September 5.

Another recent English visitor was Edward John Chapman, Director of the West Riding County Library, Sheffield, who came October 11. Mr. Chapman was touring American and Canadian libraries under the Sir Evelyn Wrench Travelling Fellowship for Librarians, awarded annually by the English-Speaking Union and the British Library Association.

Two Russian librarians with Unesco grants recently have come to Washington, D.C., to observe the operation of American libraries and documentation centers. Igor V. Zholudev, Chief of the Department of Foreign Literature, Byelorussian Lenin State Library, Minsk, arrived on September 29 for six weeks. Aleksey A. Korennoy, Senior Research Worker and Laboratory Chief, Institute of Cybernetics, Ukrainian Academy of Sciences, Kiev, arrived October 16 for three months. Both visitors have made extensive visits to the Library. Mr. Zholudev is concerned primarily with literature and reference services but he is also interested in library administration, exchanges, and all forms of library innovation. Mr. Korennoy is concerned with scientific and technical subjects and with all aspects of automation. Both have received special assistance from the Slavic and Central European Division staff.

Another recent Unesco grantee visiting the Library was Tibor Horvath, Head of the Information Department, Centre for Library Science and Methodology, National Library, Budapest, Hungary. Mr. Horvath has a three-month grant to study the practice and teaching of library science in the United States and new developments in the field of library automation.

Other Visiting Librarians

Abdul Sallam, Librarian of the Main Library, Higher College of Education, People's Democratic Republic of Aden, visited the Library on September 20. A Student at Bowling Green State Univeristy in Ohio, Mr. Sallam toured reference and processing services and the Near East Section, and met with an Exchange and Gift Division staff member.

Hiromi Takahashi, a law librarian from Tokyo University, visited the Far Eastern Division of the Law Library on October 16 where she was greeted by T. T. Hsia, Chief of the Division, and Takeo Nishioka, Japanese specialist.

Hugo Caceres, Chief of the Information and Documentation Department of the Inter-American Institute of Agricultural Science, Turrialba, Costa Rica, came to the Library on October 31, primarily to visit the MARC Development Office. He is participating in a National Agricultural Library training program.

Two staff members from the Information Center of the University of Mexico in Mexico City, visited on October 30. Josefina Morales and Roberto Guera had a tour and then a visit to the Science and Technology Division where they talked with John Price, Assistant Chief.

Averill Edwards, an expert on children's literature at the Australian National Library and a library science instructor in Canberra, visited the Library on October 26 for a tour and a conference with Virginia Haviland, Head of the Children's Book Section. Miss Edwards was accompanied by her sister, Juliana Edwards, who is a school teacher in Australia.

Anita Bentho, technical librarian in the engineering library of ENSTA in Paris visited the Library on August 28 and toured reference and processing services, including MARC.

Nora Browne, cataloger at University College, Cork, Ireland, had a tour of the Processing Department on September 12.

Mrs. Cut Parker, Chief of the USIA Library in Saigon and President of the Viet Nam Library Association, visited the Library on September 21. In 1956, she was the first grantee to come to the United States under the Jointly Sponsored Program for Foreign Librarians.

Martyn Goff, Director of the National Book League in England, visited on August 29 during a tour of the United States under a Department of State grant. His interests included literature, rare books, exhibits, publications, and the Cataloging-in-Publication program.

Norihiko Narita, a member of the Research and Legislative Reference Department of the National Diet Library in Tokyo, arrived on September 14 to spend two months in the United States to observe the Presidential elections and to study the operation of the Library's Congressional Research Service.

A former employee of the National Diet Library, also in the United States to observe the elections, came to the Library to study CRS operations. Nobuo Sakagami, now a teacher at Saitama University, was at LC on October 31 and November 1.

Baboorunbeersing Goordyal, Deputy Librarian of the University of Mauritius, visited the Library on September 6 under the auspices of a State Department grant. Educated primarily in India, Mr. Goordyal is currently studying for a master's degree in library science at the University of Ottawa. He was given a general tour of reference and processing services and talked with specialists in the African and the Southern Asia sections.

Mrs. Erika Velins, principal cataloguer in charge of monograph cataloging at the Australian National University Library in Canberra, visited on August 25. Mrs. Velins is making a round-the-world tour with her husband and took advantage of her stay in Washington, D.C., to visit the Subject Cataloging Division and discuss technical problems in the application of the LC Classification System.

Rafael Cotoret, from the National Library of Venezuela, Caracas, came to the Library on September 25 for training in the operation of the Photoduplication Service. He also had a general orientation in other areas of the Library. Mr. Cotoret, a library science graduate from the Central University of Venezuela, will return to Caracas after a brief trip to Europe.

H. O. Zastrau, Chief Librarian of the Rand Afrikaans University, Johannesburg, South Africa, was in Washington, D.C., on October 12-18. He had a comprehensive tour of the Library of Congress on October 13 and also visited the National Library of Medicine, the National Agricultural Library, the U.S. Book Exchange, and the Georgetown University Library.

Mrs. Clara Hovne, who is responsible for cataloging periodicals in the Jewish National and University Library, Hebrew University, Jerusalem, Israel, came to the Library on October 3-4. After a tour of the Processing Department, she met with Paul Vassallo, Director of the National Serials Data Program; Richard Angell, Chief of the Technical Processes Research Office; and Lawrence Marwick, Head of the Hebraic Section.

Another Israeli librarian who visited recently was Mrs. Bracha Sanbar, Professor of Library Science and a library staff member at the University of Tel Aviv. During her September 29 visit, she met with Mr. Marwick.

Dickson O. Agidee, Librarian of the Institute of Administration, University of Ife, Ibadan, Nigeria, visited on November 2. He is touring the United States to study library practices and to prepare a bibliography on the economics of developing countries.

Daniel Blum, an engineer at the Conservation Laboratory of the National Library of Servia in Belgrade, came to the Library on October 30. After a short general tour he was shown through the Preservation Research and Testing Laboratories by John C. Williams.

David W. C. Stewart, Librarian for the Royal Society of Medicine, London, visited on October 6 to discuss the production, storage, and use of microfilm.

Dr. Wolf Haenisch, Director of the Library of the University of Marburg, Germany, visited the European and the Far Eastern law divisions of the Law Library on October 24. Dr. Haenisch, who is also a Professor of Japanese studies, was especially interested in the extensive collection of Far Eastern legal materials in the Law Library.

The Librarian and Mr. Kuiper

AWARDS

Aileen E. Sundstrom, Secretary in the Central Services Division, was presented a 20-year Federal Service Award pin on October 31 by Mrs. Ida F. Wilson, the Division Chief.

A native of Willowbrook, Calif., Miss Sundstrom began her career with the Federal government in 1952 as a secretary with the Department of the Army and during the next 14 years worked for various Department of Defense agencies, including the Office of the Assistant Secretary for Defense.

Miss Sundstrom came to the Library in June 1966 when she began working in her present position in the former Office of the Secretary.

On October 18, John B. Kuiper, Head of the Motion Picture Section of the Prints and Photographs Division, received a Superior Service Award in the Librarian's office.

Mr. Mumford presented the award "in recognition of [Mr. Kuiper's] leadership of the Library's programs to collect and preserve motion picture films, especially during the past few years of the extraordinary growth of this program. Under [his] leadership the finanical support has increased, both from private and public funds, with a consequent increase in staff and in the complexity of operation. [Mr. Kuiper's] direction of the installation of a laboratory for motion picture conversion has made it possible for the Library of Congress to accomplish work not possible elsewhere in the country, and to convert significant footage of deteriorating film with technical competence and at a reasonable cost."

The Librarian further noted that "through [Mr. Kuiper's] devotion to duty and [his] active and capable leadership, the Motion Picture Section has accomplished other difficult tasks without serious error or loss of morale, despite the physical separation of the motion picture collection. [Mr. Kuiper's] diplomacy, extensive professional acquaintanceship, and ability to organize complex data have made [him] a key person in the American Film Institute cooperative effort and in the Library's role in the International Federation of Film Archives."

In ceremonies held in the Librarian's office in October, 26 staff members of the Motion Picture Section of the Prints and Photographs Division received a Meritorious Service Award in recognition of their work during the expansion and change of the past few years. The staff members recognized in the award were Maurel L. Allen, Vivian D. Armstrong, Louis F. Arnold, Mrs. Harriet W. Aveney, Kathryn D. Baker, Zachary J. Balian, Warren R. Britt, Rudolph J. Buchel, Donald E. Crow, Michael L. Godwin, Bennie R. Goodman, Nancy J. Haldeman, Mrs. Rita R. Horwitz, Carolyn Jo Keith, Holger C. Kjeldsen, Michael P. Kling, Calvin L. Morman, David L. Parker, David L. Reese, Mrs. Barbara S. Rowland, Patrick J. Sheehan, Paul C. Spehr, Samuel T. Tyler, James M. Wall, Pearline Ward, and Lucious B. Waters.

Mr. Mumford noted that "the professionalism and dedication of the staff are amply attested to by the continuing efforts to maintain and improve service at a time when the motion picture collections experienced a dramatic and sudden growth as the result of the joint commitment of the Library and the American Film Institute, and at a time of internal shifting and rearrangement of offices and collections."

The Librarian noted that "the number of readers served, the number of films preserved, and the Section's participation in national and international film scholarship have increased significantly in a few short years. The response of [the Motion Picture Section] to these changes [has been] not only commendable but gratifying."

STAFF ACTIVITIES

Mrs. Eilene Galloway, Senior Specialist in International Relations of the Foreign Affairs Division in the Congressional Research Service, presented a paper entitled "The Role of the United Nations in Earth Resources Satellites" at the 15th International Colloquium on the Law of Outer Space, held by the International Institute of Space Law of the International Astronautical Federation on October 11-13, in Vienna, Austria. Mrs. Galloway also participated in the conference of the Scientific-Legal Liaison Committee of the International Institute of Space Law and the International Academy of Astronautics which considered potentially harmful uses of the space environment.

Warren R. Johnston, Specialist in International Politics and Assistant Chief of the Foreign Affairs Division of the Congressional Research Service, was awarded a fellowship to participate in the 145th Wilton Park Conference at Wiston House, Steyning, Sussex, England on October 15-21. The conference dealt with civil rights and law and order. Other CRS staff members who have previously participated in the conference series are Lester S. Jayson, Director of CRS, Norman Beckman, Deputy Director of CRS (then with the Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations), and Hermann Ficker and Eilene Galloway, both Senior Analysts.

Nearly 50 participants from 14 countries and representing many disciplines and occupational backgrounds attended the conference, originally established by the British Government after World War II to help reopen a dialogue between Britain and Germany. The conference has since broadened into a regional center, mainly of West European and North American representatives, for encouraging discussion of a wide range of world problems.

Mr. Johnston returned a recent visit to CRS by D. C. L. Holland, Librarian of the House of Commons, and was given a briefing on the Library's work, and a tour of the House of Commons and the House of Lords.

Chi Wang, Assistant Head of the Chinese and Korean Section in the Orientalia Division, spoke at the 44th Meeting of the Government Advisory Committee on International Book and Library Programs, held at the State Department on October 19-20. Mr. Wang's "Report on Discussions between the Peking Library and the Library of Congress" told of his recent talks with the officials of the National Library of Peking. Following the report Mr. Wang held an informal discussion with leading publishers and government representatives.

ISO CONDUCTS SEMINAR, BRIEFING

On October 13, the Information Systems Office (ISO) sponsored an Automation Seminar on "Use of the ASC Computer by the Geophysical Fluid Dynamic Laboratory." Conducted by Joseph Smagorinsky of the GFDL, a research division of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration housed at Princeton University, the seminar dealt with the philosophy and concepts of techniques requiring the use of a large-scale, advanced memory computer, such as the ASC Computer, in the development of theoretical methods for the modeling of the global atmosphere and the world's oceans.

On October 16-17, ISO sponsored a Program Debugging Techniques Course as part of the Automation Training Program. The course was conducted by H. Tom Littlejohn and Jerry C. Saunders, both of ISO. The course was designed to provide training for programmers and analysts in the use of IBM OS software and proper techniques for debugging programs, and the reading of OS dumps.

On October 27, ISO sponsored a briefing entitled "Introduction to the IBM HASP System." The briefing, a function of the Automation Training Program, was conducted by Mr. Littlejohn to provide an introduction to HASP as it will be implemented in the Library's Computer Service Center.

NEWS IN THE LIBRARY WORLD

Australian National Bibliography Published

The first cumulative issue of the Australian National Bibliography (ANB), produced by the ANB/MARC System, has been published by the National Library of Australia. It cumulates the January through August 1972 monthly issues. ANB is a classified catalog of books, pamphlets, serials, and government publications issued in Australia and of items associated with Australia published overseas. The catalog is arranged by the Dewey Decimal Classification System with an author, title, and series index and a subject index. Terms used in the latter correspond to the scope of the appropriate Dewey class number and not necessarily to the subject headings assigned to the particular work. Beginning in 1973 the National Library of Australia plans to issue ANB weekly with an author and title index and to cumulate it monthly with a subject index added. Three additional cumulations during each year are planned: January-April, May-August, and January-December.

The entries in the classified sequence contain complete cataloging and classification data, following the Anglo-American Cataloging Rules, North American Text; Subject Headings Used in the Dictionary Catalogs of the Library of Congress, 7th ed.; and Dewey Decimal Classification, 18th ed. These standards have been modified slightly to reflect the needs of Australian users. In addition, the bibliographic descriptions incorporate the provisions of the International Standard Bibliographic Description (ISBD).

Subscriptions to the Australian National Bibliography may be placed with the National Library of Australia, Parkes Place, Canberra A.C.T. 2600, Australia. The full service subscription rate for 1973 is $25 Australian.

SUNY Issues Union List of Serials

The State University of New York Central Office Computer Center has published the fourth edition of the SUNY Union List of Serials. The two-volume, 2,243-page work contains entries for 42,066 titles held by the libraries of the State University of New York as well as 7,164 cross references.

The publication is available either in hard copy or on microfiche at $75 per set. Orders should be sent to Mrs. C. Preibish, SUNY Union List Office, 307 Computer/Warehouse Building, Upstate Medical Center, Syracuse, N.Y. 13210.

Roundup of Library Activities

Catherine A. Jones has been named Associate Director of the Washington Office of the American Library Association.
